

A photograph of a person in a small boat on a body of water, with a rocky shoreline and a distant industrial area. The person is seated in a small, light-colored boat, possibly a kayak or a small motorboat, on the water. The boat is positioned near the shore, which is covered in rocks and debris. In the background, there is a large body of water, and on the far shore, there are industrial structures, including cranes and buildings. The sky is blue with some clouds. The foreground shows a rocky, pebbly shore with some driftwood and a small log. The overall scene is a mix of natural and industrial elements.

Someone there did attempt to rescue the man.

UPDATE:

A search is underway for a man who fell in the Mississippi River.

TV6 was told the man fell in the River near Lock and Dam 14, located on the Mississippi River near LeClaire, Iowa and Hampton, Illinois.

The call came in around 4:30 Saturday afternoon. A 35-year-old male fell into the water where we were told he was with his family at the popular fishing spot in Hampton, "Fisherman's Corner" where witnesses say he fell off the rocks, and into the river.

"We feel bad about what happened here. We were fishing and all of a sudden the person fell in the water. We saw him going and another person tried to save him, but at that point, there was nothing he could do" said Andres Fernandez who witnessed the incident while fishing.

Silvis, Hampton, and East Moline fire responded to the incident. Multiple boats and a dive team were deployed in search of the man.

Officials say they will stop the search Saturday night and will continue looking for the man Sunday morning, once it is daylight again.

The man's name has not yet been released.
