

LOCAL NEWS

Drowning victim near Wisconsin Dells identified as West Rogers Park man

By TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICES

UPDATED: May 23, 2019 at 1:04 a.m.

A man who drowned while fishing in the Wisconsin River near the Wisconsin Dells has been identified as a 21-year-old from West Rogers Park.

Andreas Baban was fishing on a rock island in the river Saturday evening and tried to get back to shore, but appeared to get caught in a strong current and went underwater, according to the Columbia County Sheriff's Office.

Family and witnesses tried to rescue him, authorities said.

A dive team found Baban's body about 6 p.m. Monday.

