Accident Description

3 rescued, 1 missing after canoe goes over steel dam in Milan

By Sarah Beth Coleman

Jun 18, 2018

MILAN, ILL. (KWQC) — UPDATE: Tony Petreikis with the Illinois DNR has called the Milan water rescue a "fatal boating accident." Officials tell TV-6 a canoe went over the dam around 6:30 Monday night. It is still unclear how the canoe went over and what exactly happened prior to the rescue.

Three people have been rescued but as of 5 a.m. Tuesday morning, Illinois State Police have not confirmed if the missing person has been accounted for. Crews left the scene Monday night around 9 p.m.

ORIGINAL 6/18: Milan, Rock Island, Blackhawk Fire Departments, and the backwater gamblers were involved in a water rescue on the Rock River around 6:30 PM Monday.

Illinois DNR says a canoe went over the steel dam on the Rock River in Milan. Rescue crews were on Carr Island downstream of Ben Williamson Park. Three individuals were rescued and one is still unaccounted for.

KWQC TV6 has a crew is on the scene. This is a developing story.

MILAN, Ill. (KWQC) — UPDATE 3:13 p.m. 6-23-18: Crews recovered the body of 5 year-old Maci Chavez Saturday morning. Chavez was pronounced dead at 11:20 a.m. by Rock Island Coroner Brian Gustafson. Gustafson tells TV-6 a passerby driving on 78th Avenue West, also known as Andalusia Road saw her body and called police. She was located in what is called Pool 16 of the Mississippi River. The Department of Natural Resources, Andalusia Fire Department and Rock Island County Sheriff's Department all aided in the recovery. Gustafson tells TV-6 he is grateful they've recovered her body to bring closure to her family.

UPDATE 10:19 a.m.:

Crews are still searching for a 5-year-old after the canoe they were in went over the Steel Dam.

Laura Petreikis with the Illinois DNR says a woman and two boys, ages 8 and 9, are doing well after being rescued, but the search is still on for the missing child. Laura says all of them were wearing life jackets. The search is ongoing right now and they are doing surface level and sonar searches.
